Spring 2007

Dear Friend,

The Joseph J. Hurley School is an innovative dual-language public school located in Boston's South End. The Hurley serves a diverse population of native English- and native Spanish-speaking children, the majority of whom come from low-income families.

Neighborhood Parents for the Hurley School, a grassroots non-profit formed to support the Hurley, will hold a benefit, entitled "Let's Bond," for the school on May 9, 2007, at 28 Degrees restaurant. Please join us in raising needed funds to support this exciting public school. Your business can help by:

- donating a service, gift certificate, or product to our silent auction;
- purchasing an advertisement in our event program book; and/or
- becoming a sponsor of the event.

In the past year, money raised by NPHS has helped the Hurley create a new library and fund a librarian, a science specialist, literacy coaches, and after school programs. Your contribution will enable us to continue and expand these academic enrichment programs and facilities improvements next year.

Your sponsorship, donation, or ad purchase, in addition to supporting the Hurley, will ensure that your business is noticed by 175 young urban professionals at the event, plus hundreds more on the NPHS website at discoverhurley.org.

We thank you in advance for your generosity. For your convenience we have enclosed an auction donation form and an advertising and sponsorship form to be returned by April 23, 2007. Please contact auction coordinator Kelley Curry at 617-542-7637 or sponsorship coordinator Electa Sevier at 617-423-9577 if you have any questions.

Over the last three years, contributions from businesses like yours have brought numerous benefits to the Hurley students and recognition from school and city officials. With your help, we can continue to make a world of difference in the lives of all Hurley students.

Sincerely,

Kelley Curry
